SPERGON-DDT TREATED SEED

DEAR CUSTOMER:

Seed protected with Spergon-DDT, a dual purpose seed treatment to control weevils and destructive insects while in storage, and seed decay organisms during germination. Spergon is a natural lubricant which tends to prevent injury to seed flowing through your planter. In cooler climates seed may be planted earlier. Spergon has been widely tested by experiment stations in this country and abroad. Spergon-DDT is nonvolatile and insoluble in water, thus does not deteriorate when seed are carried-over. There have been no reports of injury when feeding carry-over seed to livestock, but the manufacturer recommends that it be fed at the rate of 1/5 Spergon treated to 4/5 untreated seed.

Increased stands and yields from Spergon-DDT treated seed, insurance against storage insects and the ever present possibility of replanting labor costs, far outweigh the nominal cost of treatment.

New York Medical School reports conclude from results obtained in toxicity tests with Spergon, "That the material can be utilized as a protectant for cotton and other seed without danger of intoxicating those who handle it or those who consume the products preserved by it."

The combination of lubricant properties, noninjurious nature, storage non-deterioration, high activity and nominal cost make Spergon-DDT treated seeds the most widely accepted seed for early and successful planting, with least possible risk in planting losses.

This year we are treating Sorghums, Hybrid Corn and Open-Pollinated Corn with Spergon-DDT as it is processed. Texas Certified Sorghums are offered Spergon-DDT treated at a small extra charge of 15c cwt. Hybrid Corn and Open-Pollinated Corn is DDT treated with no extra charge being made. For further information, please contact your nearest ASGROW office or see your ASGROW salesman when he calls on you.

Yours very truly,

Associated Seeds, Inc
